The board this week revoked the liquor licenses of two saloons, one at 642 West Green street and another at Eleventh and Main streets. In the first named case it was shown that carousals had been carried on in the place all night and in the last named case it was shown by the police that three robberies had been committed in the place during the Confederate reunion.

FAVORED CATHOLICS.

An unnamed writer says: "In every community, large or small, the Catholics who command universal respect are those who most strictly and exactly live up to the rules of their church, who admit no compromise in principle or practice. Their position is known on every question, and they are spared useless approaches or dubious propositions. They are trusted and honored. They are on the heat of friendly terms with their fellow-citizens of all creeds, and are looked upon as pillars of the State as well as of the church. Model citizens these, active and energetic in public life, always on the side of law and order! Unswerving loyalty to the teaching of their church has compelled the high esteem in which they are held."

REMOVES SCORCHES.

Scorches can be removed from linen or calico by applying the following mixture: Place half an onion, bruised and boiled, with a teaspoonful of vinegar, half a square inch of yellow soap and a teaspoonful of fuller's earth. Smear on the scorched surface and wash in four hours.

To test the purity of coffee pour cold water on it. If the water assumes a brownish hue it may be concluded that there is chicory in it.

Father Raffo will celebrate the mass at 9:30 o'clock and deliver a sermon appropriate to the occasion. This will be the annual communion day for Vincintians. On Sunday afternoon the quarterly meeting of the Particular Council will be held at the Cathedral, and it is expected that a member of the Particular Council of New York will be present and address his brother Vincintians. The Rev. Father Murphy will deliver the principal address.

RUSTY NAIL WOUND.

The Scientific American says that one of the very best remedies that can be applied to a wound made by a rusty nail, and which is almost infallible in its cure, is to take a quantity of peach leaves and beat them to a pulp and then apply them to the wound, and in a very short time an improvement will be noted in the wound. Several persons have tried this remedy when all others failed to give relief, and it was beneficial in its results.

IN LOUISVILLE.

The clergy and laity in the city of Louisville have reason to feel reasonably well satisfied with the progress of Catholicity in this city in recent years. While no great increase has been made in the Catholic population the increase has been steady and healthful and has kept up with the natural growth of the city. Nearly one-fourth of the population of the city is Catholic. With thirty-one churches the Catholic population is well served in every quarter. The parochial schools connected with the various congregations are of a high standard as similar schools in the most progressive congregations of the country. As schools and academies for higher education for boys and young women those in Louisville rank well up with the colleges throughout the land. Many of the churches are out of debt and some of the congregations are contemplating building new church edifices. The rectors of the churches in the city are men of high character and devotion to their duties. This being the case, it is not surprising that the members of their congregations are also devoted and active to their religious duties. They are liberal contributors to all enterprises for the cause of religion and education.

In nearly every congregation the Catholic societies are strong and willing workers for the cause of Catholicity. In one congregation it may be the Ancient Order of Hibernians, in another the St. Vincent de Paul, in another the Catholic Knights of Columbus, in another the Young Men's Institute. They lead in promoting the good of the church. In the Catholic societies the pastors have valuable auxiliaries, and the societies are coming to be more and more a part of the life of the church.

SET TRADE.

The city does not provide a safe place in the river where boys can go in swimming and learn to swim. The city does not provide a safe place in the river where boys can go in swimming and learn to swim. The city does not provide a safe place in the river where boys can go in swimming and learn to swim.

Nearly every one will spend more or less money on the Fourth of July. It is a great day for picnics and outings as well as for patriotic observances of one kind or another. Those who want amusement will be able to find it on this Fourth at the picnic and outing to be given on the grounds of the St. Vincent Orphan Asylum. The proceeds will go to the asylum fund and the picnic has the approbation of the Right Rev. Bishop. No worthier charity can be imagined than the care of the orphans, and this picnic given under the auspices of all the English-speaking Catholic congregations ought to bring together the largest crowd on record.

The picnic to be given July 4 at the grounds of the St. Vincent Orphan Asylum ought to attract an immense crowd, as it is given under the auspices of all the English-speaking congregations in the city. The purpose of the picnic is sufficient inducement for every one to patronize it. Those who can not go can at least purchase some tickets for those who might like to take an outing on that day. The care of the orphans ought to be near to the hearts of all of us. The way to make the picnic a success is to buy tickets now.

President Roosevelt is no more strenuous than Emperor William. On a recent Sunday the Emperor preached a sermon to the officers and crew of the Imperial yacht and in the afternoon went to see some horse racing. The next day he engaged in a race with a fast express train in his automobile at a speed of sixty miles an hour. The Emperor, like the President, is a hustler and always ready for a fight or a boat race.

The persistent stories sent out from Rome that the Pope intends to leave the Vatican for a summer vacation, thus abolishing the precedent set for him by Pope Pius IX. and Leo XIII., seem to be without authority. PURE WATER

That Is What Louisville Will Have Within Ninety Days.

Unforeseen Obstacles Had to Be Overcome Before Result Was Attained.

New Filtration Plant Will Be a Lasting Monument to Its Projectors.

GAVE WORK TO LOUISVILLE PEOPLE

During the month of September our people will be supplied with pure water from the new filter plant of the Louisville Water Company. This means a great deal. Pure water is as essential to life as pure air, and when the new filter plant is completed no city of its size in the United States will have as pure water as Louisville.

Carping critics and political demagogues have for years used our water supply as a basis of attack against the various city administrations. Just the same the Louisville Water Company Directors pursued the even tenor of their way, yet always striving to attain the desired end—a water supply as nearly pure as possible. They had many difficulties to overcome, but it is believed that all the puzzling problems have been solved, and now the filter plant is almost ready to begin operations. The Ohio river, expert chemists will tell you, is peculiar to itself. There is no river or lake in the country that has the same amount or character of suspended matter. These deleterious substances had to be eliminated. How? was the question. Filtration plants have long been in operation in the New England and Central States of the East, but the methods in operation there would not apply here. In 1897 the Directors of the Louisville Water Company took definite steps toward the erection of its filter plant, and from that time to this the work has progressed steadily. At first the experimental stages had to be gone through. Many different methods had to be tried before success was assured. At last a perfect method was found. Then it was taken into consideration that the city was growing. Fifteen million gallons of water would supply the city's daily needs when the filter was begun, but the Board of Directors was far-seeing enough to know that a larger supply would be necessary very soon. Therefore they arranged to have the filter plant so constructed that it would have a daily capacity of 40,000,000 gallons, and this can be readily increased to 80,000,000, because the Directors believe that Louisville will within the course of the next decade have a population of 500,000.

Like pioneers making their way through a forest, the Louisville Water Company has had to blaze a way in securing its filter plant. Its chemists and civil engineers have marked out a path for others to follow. Every city, town and hamlet from Pittsburgh to Cairo that borders on the Ohio will be benefited by the investigations made by the Louisville Water Company, because sooner or later all will have to have pure, filtered water, and it is this company that has shown the way. True it has cost $1,250,000, but what is that to the saving of human life? If the filtered water prevents one death from typhoid fever that amount of money is well spent.

Be it remembered, too, that this amount of money has been spent in Louisville wherever practicable. If Louisville contractors had the facilities for doing the work they got the contract, and if Louisville mechanics were skilled enough they were given preference over those from outside. True it is that much of the machinery is new and had to be purchased elsewhere, or else it had to be especially designed and manufactured. Blue prints had to be made showing every bolt and rivet. All this meant a great amount of work and of steady application upon the part of the engineers and architects.

Now the machinery, the big batteries of boilers and engines of most modern construction have been assembled and will soon be put in place. When all is ready President Charles R. Long, on behalf of the Board of Directors, will invite Mayor Grainger and the city officials to visit the plant and see what has been accomplished. At the same time he will invite the business men, the merchants and manufacturers, to visit the plant, and it is safe to say that no thinking man at all will have reason to find fault with the new plant.

Although this work has been in progress for eight years, the water supply of the city has never been interfered with for one hour. Only those who kept in touch with public affairs knew what was going on up near the reservoir at Crescent Hill.

Years hence when we are all in our graves and forgotten, the filter plant of Louisville will stand out as a monument to the unswerving integrity of President Charles R. Long.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

Late News That Will Interest Members Here and Elsewhere.

Bishop Carroll Council inducted nineteen candidates into the mysteries of the first degree at Covington this week. Grand Knight James Rogers, of Lexington, assisted the local team with the work.

Under the direction of Lecturer John R. Sullivan the first degree was conferred upon a large class of candidates by Cincinnati Council last Monday night. The admission of the new members was celebrated with a very enjoyable social session.

Cincinnati Knights have made final arrangements for their annual dinner, which will be served at the Zoo club house on the evening of July 11. The Telegraph says the affair will mark a red-letter day in the history of Cincinnati Council.

Dr. John G. Coyle delivered an eloquent lecture on Wolfe Tone before Lacodaine Council at a recent meeting. He paid a high tribute to the worth of Irishmen in every calling. At the conclusion of the address the audience arose en masse and cheered the speaker.

VERY BUSY

Was the Meeting Held by Division I On Tuesday Night.

The meeting of Division I, A. O. H., on Tuesday night was one of the most interesting and business-like of any held for several months. President James P. Barry called to order at 8 o'clock precisely, while his efficient force of subordinates were all at their posts and fully alive to the performance of their respective duties. From start to finish the meeting was a busy one, and matters of importance were transacted. No. 1 certainly seems to have a hustle on, and with more meetings of a similar character the regular attendance would grow appreciably. The Hon. Thomas Walsh, Mark Ryan, Capt. Thomas Riley, John M. Mulloy, Tim O'Sullivan and others made interesting talks for the good of the order. The sick claims of Henry McDermott and John Callahan were paid. It was with regret that the members learned that these brothers were still confined to their beds. It was also noted with regret that John Shughnessy was very ill. Another live meeting is promised for the second Tuesday in July.

CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

All delegates are urged to attend the next meeting of the Central Committee of the Catholic Knights of America. The committee arranging the programme for the September entertainment will report, also the Membership Committee. But the matter of greatest importance for the consideration of the delegates is the decision of the Missouri courts bearing upon the suspension and withdrawal of members, which it is claimed will work a revolution in the operations of fraternal insurance societies.

NEW DIVISION.

A new division of the Hibernians is being organized at Mayaville, and will soon be in working order. State President Thomas Keenan will visit Mayaville to assist at the formal organization of that body.

SISTERS MEET.

Mother Alphonsa, Superioress of the Sisters of Charity of Nazareth, paid a visit to Lexington last week, where she met her sister, who is now a resident of Pittsburgh.

HURRAH!

The Kentucky Irish American Is Celebrating Its Eighth Birthday.

Loyalty of Louisville People Has Been the Good Leading to Success.

High Class of Advertisements Demand the Attention of All Readers.

ALWAYS FOR HOME INDUSTRIES

The Kentucky Irish American celebrates the eighth anniversary of its birth today. Fortunately, perhaps, it was launched on July 4, 1898, the day following the victory of the American fleet over the Spanish flotilla near Santiago harbor. The news of the American naval victory put everybody in a good humor, and thus under most auspicious circumstances the Kentucky Irish American made its way into public favor. From that day to this it has held the same high place in public esteem, with this difference—it has increased its circulation more than 100 per centum and has secured a firmer hold on public favor. It knows no factions, but stands for all that is good in Louisville first, in Kentucky next, and is ready to battle for the integrity of the whole United States whenever the occasion offers.

The struggles of its editor and his associates might make interesting reading, but Irishmen are quick to forgive, though slow to forget. Certainly the early supporters of the Kentucky Irish American will not be forgotten for their loyalty, their financial and moral support, which was given unreservedly at times when they were most needed. In January, 1903, the paper was incorporated and took on a more comprehensive scope. It has grown and has kept in touch with the progress of the times. This year it celebrates its eighth anniversary by attempting to get out a better paper than ever before.

The Kentucky Irish American has always had a good word to say concerning Louisville institutions and Louisville industries. Nothing else has so contributed to the success of the paper. It is not in the province of a newspaper to praise itself, but it must be said in all sincerity that the Kentucky Irish American never belittled a local institution. Where it has found evil it has not been slow to say a word against it, but at no time has it condemned the whole city to everlasting fire.

Germans, as well as Irish citizens, and business men have been quick to appreciate the work that was being done by the Kentucky Irish American. The result is that in this number the readers of this paper are presented with a better line of advertising than ever before. If you want hats, clothes, shoes, groceries, insurance, dry goods, refreshments, yes, even if you need the services of an undertaker, you have only to look at our columns and select the people you want to deal with.

Now, as formerly, there are no foreign advertisements in this paper. It stands for Louisville and for Kentucky. Neither are there any of the many fake medicinal advertisements that find place in the daily journals. The management of the Kentucky Irish American desires to impress upon its readers the necessity of patronizing home industries. If you want drugs, refer to the druggists advertising in the Kentucky Irish American; if you want to build a house, you will find not only competent, but the best builders advertising in our columns. What has been said of druggists and builders applies to all other lines of business. If you want the best of anything you can get it from people who advertise in this paper. Favor us when buying by a kind mention.

ENTERTAINMENT

Held in Honor of the Ladies' Auxiliary by Division 4.

After a short business session of Division 4, A. O. H., Wednesday night, a social session was held in honor of the Ladies' Auxiliary. About twenty-five ladies were present and helped to make the evening enjoyable. After President Hennessey had welcomed the ladies he retired to make room for John J. Barry, the Chairman of the social session. Miss Julia Kelly rendered several vocal and instrumental solos which won great applause, and her pleasing efforts caused her to be kept at the piano for some time. Miss Mamie Keenan, who always pleases rendered several medleys of Irish airs on the piano and received hearty encores. Joseph P. McGinn made a brief address of thanks to the ladies for their attendance, and said he was sorry to leave such good company, but was forced to catch a train for St. Louis, where he had a business engagement. Other gentlemen who made short talks were George J. Butler, Dr. Frank Norton, Dr. John T. Chalk, Steve McElliot, Dennis J. Heffernan and Dave O'Connell. Misses Mamie Foley, Bridget Hanrahan, Ella O'Connell and Mrs. Dan Dougherty made short talks on behalf of the ladies. Each and all praised the hospitality of Division 4, saying that this was the second occasion they had been entertained by its members, and all admitted having a warm spot in their hearts for their hosts. Mrs. Genevieve O'Connor recited several selections that were commended, and James J. Kenealy surprised all with several songs. John Holmes sang ballads in Irish and made such a hit that he had to repeat. He also danced several jigs and made himself famous. During the evening refreshments were served and it was midnight before the social session closed.

LARGE OUTLAY.

Many Will Find Employment in Constructing Outfall Sewer.

Over $1,000,000 will be spent in building the big outfall sewer which is to drain the southern and southwestern part of the city. Of course all of this money will not be spent this year, but a considerable sum will be expended during the months of September, October and November, provided the contracts are awarded in August. The construction of this sewer will be a great boon to the people living in the region to be drained. It will also afford employment to hundreds of men during the fall and winter months.

ALL FOR SHANNON.

John Shannon, of Lexington, will have no opposition as candidate for re-election as Grand Secretary of the Y. M. I. He has proven a capable and energetic official, hence his retention in office is desired. For a time friends of former Grand Secretary Lutz expected him to make a canvass for the office, but he has found Secretary Shannon so strongly entrenched in the good graces of the Y. M. I. members, that he has abandoned the effort to succeed him, preferring to remain out of the race rather than suffer a certain defeat.

NEW ORLEANS

Will Welcome Delegates to the Catholic Federation in October.

Great Preparations Have Been Made for Reception and Entertainment.

Dignitaries from Hawaiian and Philippine Islands Will Attend.

DELIBERATIONS WILL BE OF INTEREST

Preparations are being made in every State to send delegates to the national convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies, which will meet in New Orleans October 9 to 12 inclusive. This convention will bring together the grandest assembly of Catholic dignitaries and laymen ever witnessed in the South, and the reception accorded them will be worthy of the people of Louisiana. The generosity and Catholicity of the people of New Orleans is known the world over, and the delegates to the Catholic Federation will be met with open arms and joyous hearts. Louisville will send her quota of representatives to the convention, both as State and county, and it behooves those who are not delegates to visit New Orleans during this great event that the efforts of our brothers in the South will be appreciated.

Great preparations are already under way. Parishes and Catholic institutions are invited to join the American Federation of Catholic Societies. The annual fee is $3 and may be sent to the State Secretary or to the National Secretary, 4150 Wyoming avenue, St. Louis.

The Federation of the Hawaiian Territory, headed by the Right Rev. Libert H. Boeynaems, Bishop of Honolulu, took a decided stand against the obnoxious puritanical Sunday law bill in the island and it was defeated almost unanimously in the face of strong protest by the puritanical missionary churches.

Bishop Jose de Camargo Barros, of Brazil, wrote to Bishop McPaul that the good news concerning the happy success of federation of the Catholic societies in the United States had reached South America. The Bishop stated that a similar movement had been founded in his diocese and he would be delighted to open correspondence with the Federation and receive some of its literature.

The object of the American Catholic Federation is the promotion of Catholic truths and the organization of all American Catholic societies under one head. It has no political aims save the protection of Catholic institutions. The Catholic church is a model of organization, and these societies of laymen are patterned after their Holy Mother. Representative laymen from all sections of America, as well as priests and prelates, will attend the deliberations of the national body and the proceedings should be of interest to every American citizen.

City Mayor Fred Bishop will spend his vacation at Atlantic City and other Eastern summer resorts.

IRISH SCIENTIST

James Butler Burke, Most Talked-of Man in Europe at Present.

James Butler Burke, the most talked-of scientist in Europe today, is an Irishman by birth and education. He came to Cavendish Laboratory, Cambridge, a couple of years since from Trinity College, Dublin, to pursue his studies and experiment in bacteriology. Three years ago he turned his attention to the problem of spontaneous generation.

"Observing that radium had several qualities in common with cyonogen," he said, "which Pfleger declared had elements of life, while radium has energy of very much higher magnitude, I began experimenting with it. I tried radium with sterilized bouillon, the ordinary culture medium, placing them together in a test tube, the radium being in actual contact with the bouillon. After a couple of days I got these cultures."

Prof. Burke showed photographs magnified of cultures which were mere glacial dots. "Sub-cultures of these were made," he continued, "and, although seen to grow, they don't grow like bacteria. They are soluble in water; bacteria are not. That goes far to dispose of the suggestion that they result from imperfect sterilization of the medium. Then, when you examine them through a microscope, they show indication of growth and segregation. When they reach a certain size they subdivide, which shows they are not crystals either. Possibly they are a primitive form of life."

"Nearly everything is radioactive—even the earth itself—and infamously available medium life may have originated in that way. What has been done suggests vitality. Besides, if my conclusions and those of those who have examined them be correct, they fit in exactly with Herbert Spencer's definition of life: 'The continuous adjustment of internal to external relations,' and are a consistent emphasis on the need of adapting the organism to its environment. I am pursuing my investigations and will publish a more ambitious report soon."

MURRAY FOR CAREY.

James T. Carey, a well known Louisville boy, has been made Secretary to J. F. McNamee, editor of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen's magazine, with headquarters at Indianapolis. He was formerly a fireman on the L. & N. railroad and an active member and earnest worker in Lodge No. 108 of the order of Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen. Mr. Carey is a son of Nick Carey, formerly a well known member of the Louisville police force. His friends are rejoicing over the fact that Carey's ability is being recognized.

LARGER QUARTERS.

J. J. Cronin, the well known electrician, whose works for many years were located on Third street, near Walnut, has moved to more commodious quarters at 323 Floyd street, where he will carry a larger and better stock. Mr. Cronin has put in the electrical work in numbers of our churches and large buildings.

THIRTY YEARS

Of Good Work Is Bringing About Good Results.

The Catholic Young Men's National Union will hold its thirty-first annual convention in Albany, N. Y., on August 22-23. Thirty years ago this society was formed at Newark, N. J., and the first organization to join were made up of literary clubs. Its object was the elevation of young men socially and spiritually. So well did it succeed that last year its members organized a series of night schools wherein the pupils are given training along mechanical lines. Since its last convention the Union has lost its first President, the Right Rev. Bishop Doane, of Newark.

SALOON LICENSES.

On the first Monday in August all retail liquor licenses expire, and of the 900 persons now holding permits to sell intoxicants at retail 810 had applied for renewals up to yesterday. The others will come in before the time expires. Under the law those who want to re-monstrate against the granting of license may do so two weeks before the time fixed for hearing the applications for license. If all the license are granted there will be one saloon to almost each 250 inhabitants.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.

Something For the Young and Old to Remember in Louisville.

It is unlawful to shoot pistols, fire-crackers or other explosives on the streets. The penalty is a fine of not less than $3 for each offense. Fire-crackers may be exploded on your own premises, provided you do not annoy your neighbor.

It is wrong to make loud and unusual noises on the Fourth where there is liability of disturbing the sick or frightening individuals or animals. Many serious runaways have been caused on the Fourth by the reckless discharge of firecrackers in close proximity to horses and carriages. Many serious fires have been caused by the same means.

Firecrackers are a Chinese invention and are used as an offering to evil spirits whom the Chinese believe to be fond of noise, fire and bad smells.

For firecrackers not one good word can be said. They do not even teach a boy how to use explosive substances and they do not give him bravery. The greatest cowards, the boys whom anybody can whip, are often the foremost to play with crackers. There is no danger about the play if one follows the rules, but once in the street with other boys and their crackers, the best and cleverest boys are at the mercy of the worst and the dullest, who in mischief or from pure stupidity may put their eyes or blow off their fingers.

JONES' BODY.

Ceremonies Attending Removal of Remains to Be Held July 8.

The remains of John Paul Jones will start from France to America next Saturday. At Paris the Ministry of Marine and the American Embassy are arranging the details of the ceremonies which will attend the removal of the body, which is set for July 6 from Paris and July 8 from Cherbourg.

Application has been made to permit the landing of 534 American marines with their arms. These will come to Paris by special train July 6, and act as an escort. They will be accompanied by Rear Admiral Sigbee and his staff. The French naval and military authorities are also arranging an escort. After simple services in the American church, on the Avenue de l'Alma, the body will be borne, with the honors due to an admiral, to the St. Lazare railroad station.

AL SMITH'S REMOVAL.

Al Smith is now fully and well established in his new undertaking establishment at 809 West Jefferson street, close to the site so long occupied by his late and lamented father, Grau W. Smith. The new quarters are modernly equipped and are up to date in every particular. The building occupied by Mr. Smith is of a splendid style of architecture and since its renovation makes his undertaking establishment second to none in point of equipment. Environment is the best evidence of a successful business, and Al Smith certainly deserves the success he has achieved.

LOVELY QUARTETTE.

John M. Mulloy, Peter M. O'Reilly, George J. Butler and Tom Riley constitute a formidable quartette who are billed to leave for the East on July 14. En route to New York they will visit Old Point Comfort, Norfolk, Atlantic City and Philadelphia. Mr. Butler is a member of the Board of Directors of the National Hibernians and will attend the meeting of that board while in New York. Messrs. Mulloy, Riley and O'Reilly will meet the Hibernians of New York during their stay, but expect to combine business with pleasure.

ABOUT MATT GAGAN.

Matt Gagan, at Shelby and Main streets, is one of those you frequently hear of, but seldom read about. He knows his own business best and attends to it. There is not one in a thousand that neglects other people's affairs like Matt. It is this trait that has built him up a splendid trade in the East End and that has drawn around him a circle of friends who will go their whole length for him. There is good political timber in him and his friends hope that after the November election he can be saluted as Alderman Gagan.

RONTGEN A CATHOLIC.

Privy Councillor Professor Dr. Wilhelm Konrad Rontgen, the famous German scientist, completed his sixtieth year on March 27. He was born at Linnepe, in the Prussian Rhine-Province. Among modern physicists he has long held a distinguished place by his world-wide renown he achieved ten years ago by the discovery of the X-rays. He has been honored the world over by learned societies and by honorary titles. Some years ago he received the Nobel prize. Berlin has erected a statue of him. Prof. Rontgen is a Catholic.

TALK ON IRELAND.

His Lordship Bishop McGuckick attended a meeting of Hibernians at Du-luth last week and gave an interesting talk on Ireland, its past and present conditions. Among other things he said that Balfour's promise to assist Ireland in securing the endowment of the Kentucky university, like all other English promises to Ireland, had been broken.

PAT BANNON

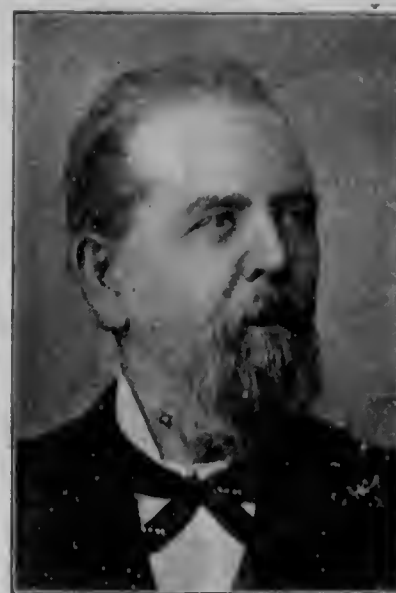

Has Passed the Allotted Three-Score and Ten by Two Years.

Model Citizen Will Celebrate Eighty-Second Birthday Next Week.

Oldest Manufacturer and Employer in Louisville Is An Irish-American.

CHILDREN FOLLOW HIS EXAMPLE

Wednesday, July 12, Patrick Bannon, the oldest manufacturer in Louisville, will celebrate the eighty-second anniversary of his birth, and the Kentucky

Irish-American, when it bids him with "Ad multos annos," but voices the wishes of his many friends, not only in Louisville, but all over America and in Ireland. It would be hard to tell anything new about Pat Bannon. He has lived and labored so long in Louisville, and has been so much identified with the city's interests, that the ordinary events in his life are known to the majority of our people. Yet there are many young Irish-Americans growing up who need to be reminded occasionally that they have before them a model, and Pat Bannon has been a model Irish-American, a model Kentuckian, a model business man, a model citizen, a model business man, a model employer, and greater than all of these, a model Catholic.

Born in Killough, County Down, Ireland, on July 12, 1834, the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne Water, young Bannon grew up amid surroundings that taught him thrift as well as honesty and industry. At an early age he became a plasterer's apprentice and learned ornamental plastering under the tutelage of his stepfather, William Campbell, where he worked at his trade until 1848, when he came to America, landing in New Orleans. Thence he went to Cincinnati, where he followed the trade of ornamental plasterer, and was better than the best in his line. One year after reaching America Pat Bannon made his first visit to Louisville. He was employed to plaster the Baptist church at Fourth and Walnut streets. A year later, 1850, he returned to Louisville to plaster the Cathedral of the Assumption, then in course of erection. This work occupied some time and the young Irish tradesman saw that Louisville was a prosperous and growing town. He settled down and went into business here in that year and has been continuously successful ever since.

Two years after his advent to Louisville Mr. Bannon began the manufacture of ornamental terra cotta in a small way and gradually branched out in the burning of clays and sewer pipe. From that time to the present he has been successful in every business venture he ever undertook. In 1890 he began the manufacture of vitrified brick for streets and roadways, and established a plant at Ninth and Magnolia avenue. This plant and his sewer pipe plant at Thirtieth and Lexington are among the largest manufacturing plants in Louisville.

Pat Bannon, as his old friends love to call him, was married to Miss Louise E. Smith in 1860. She was a daughter of Early Smith, of Jefferson county, and was a member of one of Kentucky's oldest and best families. For seventeen years she proved a loving consort and faithful helpmate, but died in 1877. In 1880 Mr. Bannon married a second time, but in 1903 he was again robbed of his consort by death. Seven children were the result of his first union. His living children are Mrs. Edward O'Connor and Mrs. Robert L. Burrell, both of Louisville; Mrs. F. A. Hardesty, of Corinth, Miss.; M. J. Bannon, R. B. Bannon and Pat Bannon, Jr. The last three named, his sons, are associated with their father in business, and are following close upon his example. Both firms were incorporated in 1902—the P. Bannon Sewer Pipe Company, with P. Bannon, Sr., President; M. J. Bannon, Vice-President; H. M. Wolting, Secretary, and R. B. Bannon, Treasurer, while the officers of the Kentucky Vitrified Brick Company are P. Bannon, Sr., President; M. J. Bannon, Vice-President; R. L. Burrell, Secretary, and P. Bannon, Jr., Treasurer.

Mr. Bannon received a visit this week from Joseph Steele, of Memphis, Tenn., from whom was purchased the site of the pipe works. Mr. Steele formerly worked for Mr. Bannon, but moved to Memphis in 1880. Andrew Steele, a brother of Joseph, began working for Mr. Bannon in 1880 and is still in his employ. Another veteran employee of Mr. Bannon is Eugene Antrave, who has been in his employ since 1861.

THE GREEN CURSE.

Absinthe Has Caused Much Lunacy and Crime in France.

Its production has recently been prohibited in Belgium. The 735 hectolitres annually consumed in France fifty years ago have now become 133,000. Half a century ago the total amount of alcoholic drink consumed in France was about 600,000 hectolitres; now it is 2,000,000. Lunacy and crime have increased in proportion. Sixty years ago there were 10,000 lunatics; now there are 80,000. Within about thirty years crime has increased almost tenfold. The havoc wrought in France by "absinthism" is fearful. Fearing an invasion of it, Belgium prohibits the green peril. The "clerical" government of Belgium, the most stable popular government in the world, passes not one useless parliamentary measure, nor omits any really useful one, while the enlightened secret society administration of France has been engaged now for five or six years in paralyzing the power of the nation and in making it atheistic.

RECENT DEATHS.

It was with great regret that the many friends of Daniel Scanlan, an old and esteemed resident of the Hill, learned of his death, which occurred at his home, 1409 Payne street, on Sunday night. He was sixty-two years of age and a native of Ireland. One daughter, Mrs. Katie Crowe, survives him. The funeral took place from St. Aloysius church on Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Mary Sullivan, seventy years old, died Sunday night at the residence of her son-in-law, John J. Sullivan, 1405 Rubel avenue. The funeral took place from St. Aloysius' church on Tuesday morning. The deceased had been a resident of Louisville more than fifty years, and was held in high esteem. The sympathy of many friends is extended to the family in their grief.

John Carroll, an old and esteemed resident of New Albany, died at his home in that city on Monday. The deceased was eighty-two years old, and is survived by his wife and five children. The funeral took place from Holy Trinity church on Wednesday, and was attended by his many friends.

The funeral of Mrs. Winifred Moran, the venerable mother of Patrick, Michael and Luke Moran, who died Saturday night, took place from the Church of Our Lady at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. The interment was in St. John's cemetery. Mrs. Moran lived at 2725 Marine street, and was well known and highly respected in the community.

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret L. Jordan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jordan, who died Saturday morning, took place from the family residence, 1565 Lytle street, on Tuesday morning, and from St. Patrick's church half an hour later. The deceased was in her nineteenth year, and her untimely demise was a source of great grief to her parents and friends.

Daniel O'Leary, one of Spencer county's most substantial farmers, died suddenly at his home near Wakefield on Monday. He was sixty-six years old. Mr. O'Leary was the father of twelve grown children, one of whom is Gus T. O'Leary, Louisville salesman for Washington-Crosey Co. The funeral took place from the Church of All Saints at Fairfield on Tuesday, the Rev. Father Revermann officiating.

ENCYCLICAL TO FARMERS.

It is announced that Pope Pius will soon issue an encyclical letter addressed to all the Bishops of the world, in which the condition of the tillers of the soil will be discussed.

COURTESY AND MANNERS.

Good manners are the key to advancement in life. The tactful person makes a study of the character of others and wards off unpleasant words, avoids argument which is sure to lead beyond the fields of pleasantness and is polite and considerately courteous. "Manners aim to facilitate life," writes Emerson. "They aid our dealing and our conversation. These forms very soon become fixed, and a fine sense of propriety is cultivated with the more heed that it becomes a badge of social and civil distinction." He also writes that a beautiful behavior is "the finest of the fine arts." Society demands an element "which it significantly terms good nature, expressing all degrees of generosity, from the lowest willingness and faculty to oblige up to the heights of magnanimity and love."

TRAILING GOWNS TABOOED.

The women in America who are permitted to wear frocks with trains as long as they like will be astonished to learn that in Germany a trailing gown is tabooed. An American lady was accosted in one of the parks in a German city by a police man, who had her hold up her gown, inasmuch as the trailing damaged the gravel and also, he added, did the gown no good. She demurred, pointing out that in her opinion the damage to the gown was of little consequence. At once the policeman produced a formidable looking book in which in equally formidable German it was stated that to let a dress drag on the pathway was an offense against the law.

SELF.

A perfect understanding of self is a perfect understanding of all things, for man is the condensed whole. From such a man no power is withheld. All things are obedient to him. The old Greek motto, "Know thyself," covers the whole range of wisdom. A man who really knows himself, all the inner recesses of his being, all the wonders of his body, soul and spirit, has found the royal road to God.
